The deceased was a sufferer of that dread disease, tuberculosis, and departed this life Jan. 25, 1916. He leaves to mourn their loss a wife and two small children, and other relatives and friends. The body was taken to Clayton for burial. The sympathy of all go out to the bereaved ones.

PASAMONTE

Geo. Roberts was in Clayton on business one day this week.

Harry Arnett is building a cave at his home.

Grandpa Beach returned home last week from Oklahoma after an absence of about two months.

Dr. Ives was called across Ute Creek Saturday on professional business.

Lee Brown has been suffering with a severe cold. We attribute it to his talking so much over the phone.

Weather has been exceptionally fine in this part of the valley and farmers are already making preparations for spring work.

Harry Arnett butchered four hogs Monday, one of them weighing about 600 pounds.

Harry and Bert Beach are busy baling alfalfa hay, for which they receiving $12.50 per ton.

Newton Walker has been over at J. W. Forbes the past few days hauling in feed for Frank Gilliam.

Geo. Brostmeyer is in St. Louis at the present time taking in the sights of the city.

Hardly a day passes but that you can see team after team going to the mill for fuel. Now is the time to lay in your summer supply.

Miss Winifred Arnett, Mr. O. P. Gard, Miss Stone, and Mr. John Ivie, attended the dance at Harrington Friday night. They report a good crowd and a jolly time.

J. W. Forbes received a letter from C. L. Pernell, of Massillon, Ohio to the effect that he had sold his place twelve miles west of Clayton to J. B. Day, of Clayton. This makes the sixth time that this place has changed hands within the past two years.

A telephone meeting was held Monday night at Lake View school house for the purpose of arranging plans for the putting of the wires on poles instead of on the fences as they are now, and of taking in new members. Other business matters were also attended to.

The Literary at the Lake View school house on last Friday night was a decided success. The program consisted of solos, readings, recitations, quartets, and a mock trial. Next Friday night the subject for debate will be "Which is the more useful, the horse or the cow."

Ed Morgan is figuring with several companies on the purchase of a tractor. We hope that he makes the purchase as this will add materially to the amount of grain put in this spring.

One of the grandest times that Ute valley has ever experienced took place last Friday when fifty-four of our big Family met at the residence of J. C. Arnett and celebrated their thirtieth anniversary. Rigs could be seen coming from all directions laden with boxes and baskets filled with good things to eat. Space will not permit the enumeration of all the good things we had so will mention only a few of them. Roast Turkey and dressing, roast chicken and dressing, potato salad, salmon salad, cabbage salad, beans of various kinds and cooked in different ways, pickles both sweet and sour beets and peaches, peach and tomato preserves, jelly, apple, grape and plum, grape marmalade, chow-chow, cakes of all description and pies galore. The table fairly groaned under its burden and the guests groaned with their burden after eating the dinner. To say that we had a good time does not express it. The young folks spent the day on the lake skating while the older ones, after clearing away the dinner dishes, placed the table in the center of the room and the bride and groom of thirty summers, thereon and there, while Judge Broom officiated, renewed their marriage vows.

After the ceremony was performed the glad hand was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Arnett and wishes of many returns of the day. A few of the gentlemen present had the courage to kiss the bride but the ladies, remembering that this is Leap Year, fairly rushed up and smothered the groom with caresses. In the evening the crowd all went to the Lake View school house and enjoyed a literary entertainment together, remaining until the wee sma' hours before returning to their homes.

E. M. Stevens of Sampson, was a caller at The Citizen office this week and paid ahead on subscription. Mr. Stevens highly complimented the appearance of and new sentiment of the Citizen and is a great booster for Union county. His family has resided here for the past five years. Mr. Stevens being on the road most of the time. His profession is that of a railroad man, and his work for some time past has been on a run in Nebraska. We enjoyed your call.

"MARTYRS OF THE ALAMO"

AN EDUCATIONAL FILM PLAY
David W. Griffith Reproduces Faithfully the Crisis in the Fight of Texas for Independence

The historical events of 1836, when Texas won her fight for independence from the yoke of Santa Anna, then dictator of Mexico, furnish the inspiration for "Martyrs of the Alamo," supervised by D. W. Griffith, which will be shown in the Triangle program next Friday at the Dixie. In producing this spectacle the director has taken a leaf from Thomas A. Edison's book and has set out to "teach more history in fifteen minutes with a motion picture than teachers and text books can drill into his scholars in a month."

Famous pioneers of the Alamo days are reproduced with fidelity. The story of the slaughter which inspired the slogan, "Remember the Alamo!" and the quick revenge taken by the Texans is told with true regard for history and the requirements of dramatic climax.

David Crockett and Silas Smith, James Bowie, Santa Anna, Sam Houston, and other well-known figures of the early days are impersonated by the pick of Griffith's permanent players. They unfold the story of the capture of the Alamo, a combined mission and fort in which the Mexicans made their headquarters; the return of Santa Anna and the siege, from which only four Americans survived; the arrival of Sam Houston and the complete rout of the Mexicans and capture of Santa Anna at San Jacinto, where a few hundred pioneers defeated an army of several thousand Mexicans. In the making of the scenes of the spectacle prominent parts were played by Sam de Grasse, Walter Long, A. D. Sears, Alfred Paget, Augustus Carney, Juanita Hanson and Ora Carew.

This is a Griffith Triangle Film.

Look Around Your Home Place

Certain Improvements Are Necessary

If there are many—don't try to make them all at once. Decide on the one you need most, then—build well—build for future needs as well as the present. It costs less to build big at first than to build and make additions.

Our stock is particularly attractive as to grades, and you will find our prices very reasonable.

Now!—is the time the shrewd buyer is building!

We call especial attention to our large stock of
